Real help for people and businesses

The international financial crisis and the recession it has caused around the world, and now in the UK, is having a real impact on individuals, families and businesses.

The Government is acting because extra support is needed to get us through the downturn. So a range of new help is being made available for those who need it, from homeowners with difficulties paying their mortgages, or people seeking employment or training, to small businesses with cashflow problems and larger businesses needing working capital.

This booklet tells you what help is available now and where to find it. It also includes details of extra support that is being introduced this spring, and we will update it as more help becomes available.

The Government's priorities to get Britain through the recession are:

- to prevent the collapse of the banking system, so that people's savings are secure and the banks can do their job;
- to get the financial system lending responsibly again so as to support businesses, jobs and growth;

- to support the economy and jobs through direct government action, including tax cuts and important investment projects; and
 - to help people through these tough times with the support described in this booklet.

Action has also been taken to boost our economy by putting money in people's pockets and bringing investment plans forward. This includes:

- income tax cuts of £145 for every basic rate taxpayer;
- £60 extra for every pensioner in January 2009;
- a VAT cut worth on average over £200 to every family this year; and
- an extra £3 billion investment in projects that will protect and create jobs.

Real help now, when you need it.

Help with keeping your home

You may be concerned about how the global economic downturn might affect your housing. If your job has been affected, you may be worried about keeping up with your mortgage repayments. Below you will find information about the help that is currently available. Additional support for homeowners is being developed and will be available over the next few months.

Help to avoid repossession

We want to help people in financial difficulties stay in their homes. If you are worried about paying your mortgage, you should talk to your lender first as it may be able to help you find alternatives, such as cutting your monthly repayments. New rules introduced in November 2008 mean that repossession should always be a last resort, and lenders have agreed to look at all possible options to prevent it.

You may be able to get free legal advice from your county court. In about 85 per cent of cases, this service helps to avoid immediate repossession when people attend court. To get help, contact your local county court.

Depending on your circumstances you may be eligible for one of two schemes

1. Support for Mortgage Interest may help you with your mortgage interest payments to enable you to stay in your home if you've been on certain benefits for 13 weeks or more, or if you are on the lowest income and have limited savings. This help has been extended to increase the maximum amount of capital borrowed on which we will meet the interest payments.

Visit Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk] for more information.

2. The Mortgage Rescue Scheme is designed to help you stop your home being repossessed if this would mean that you became homeless and entitled to support from your local council. If you are likely to be able to get your situation back on track, then a housing association may buy a share in your home. This would cut your monthly repayments. If you are in more serious difficulties, a housing association may buy your home and you will then be able to stay there as a tenant.

Contact your local council housing department or local Citizens Advice Bureau [www.citizensadvice.org.uk] for more details.

Help with housing costs

If you need financial help to pay all or part of your rent, you may get Housing Benefit, provided that your income and capital (savings and investments) are below a certain level. If you rent from a private landlord there's a new way of working out Housing Benefit – known as Local Housing Allowance.

Your council can also help with advice on rented accommodation or social housing and can tell you what help you may be able to receive, including temporary housing and other help if you are at risk of becoming homeless.

Contact your local council [www.direct.gov.uk/en/D11/Directories/Localcouncils/index.htm] for more details.

Help with skills and training

New skills can help you get on in life. Taking a course can increase your chance of keeping or getting a job, help you move up in your job, enable you to change to a different industry or type of job, or just make your work and life more enjoyable. Depending on your age and circumstances, you may be able to get free training and other support. See the separate box for contact details if you are in Wales or Scotland.

Advice on careers, skills, training and related financial support

Whether you are in work or not, you can get independent advice about skills and job possibilities. From basic skills to work-related training, management and leadership training and university courses, you may be able to get free or partially funded training.

Visit the Careers Advice Service website [www.direct.gov.uk/careersadvice] or telephone 0800 100 900.

For face-to-face advice, contact your local Nextstep. Details of how to find your nearest office are on Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk/nextstep].

Apprenticeships

Apprenticeships are a way to learn while you work. You can now do apprenticeships in a wide range of new areas, covering more than 180 different careers and about 80 industry sectors. They are open to women and men and to younger and older workers, and you can apply whether or not you are already in employment.

Contact the Apprenticeships Service [www.apprenticeships.org.uk], 0800 015 0600.

Financial support while training

Whatever course you are taking, you may be able to get a grant, a loan, help with childcare costs, or other financial help. For example, around two-thirds of higher education students should be able to get a full or partial non-repayable grant – ranging from students who receive the Education Maintenance Allowance to learners up to the age of 60 taking their first degree.

Visit the education and learning section of Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk/learning].

Help for graduates

Directgov can give you advice if you are about to graduate anywhere in the UK and are thinking about your career opportunities and what working life might mean, or if you are interested in further study options. It can also advise you if you are working but would like to apply your skills to a different sector.

Visit the advice for graduates section of Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk/graduates].

If you are a recent graduate who is now unemployed, you can also contact any university's careers advice service. To find your local university visit HERO's University Finder [www.hero.ac.uk].

Help with jobs and benefits

If you are worried about losing your job and about what you would do for money if the worst happened, there is a wide range of services and help available to support you.

If you are looking for a new job

Jobcentre Plus can tell you about the advice and support you can get if you are out of work and looking for a job, want to find out about learning or training opportunities, can't work at the moment, or need financial help.

To find out more visit the Jobcentre Plus website [www.jobcentreplus.gov.uk]. To access thousands of vacancies online visit Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk].

If you need to claim benefits

If you are unemployed, you can find information about Jobcentre Plus services and benefits online. The usual benefit is Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA), which you can claim over the phone. You will also be given an appointment to come into one of over 750 jobcentres for personal help and advice on finding work.

To make a claim for JSA you will need the following information:

- your National Insurance number;
- details of your rent or mortgage;
- details of your past or present employment;
- adults who live in your home; and
- details of other income and savings, including those of a spouse or partner.

Phone 0800 0 55 66 88 (phone lines are open from 8am to 6pm, Monday to Friday). The call will take about 40 minutes and if necessary we can call you back. Textphone 0800 023 4888.

You can also make a claim for Jobseeker's Allowance online at Directgov, or visit www.direct.gov.uk/benefitsadviser to check whether you may be eligible for other financial help.

Extra support to help you back to work

During the time that you claim JSA, Jobcentre Plus gives you access to a range of practical advice and support to help you get back to work.

If you are still unemployed and claiming JSA after three months you will be given more intensive help to find work.

If you are still unemployed after six months, from April 2009 we may offer you extra support, including:

- help to set up a business – advice on creating a business plan, plus funding for the first months of trading;
- new training places – extra funding for training places to help you get new skills in order to increase your chances of getting a job;
- volunteering options – more opportunities to volunteer to help you keep your skills and experience up to date or develop new skills; and
- the opportunity to be employed by an employer who may receive a recruitment subsidy and in-work training support.

The longer you are out of work, the harder Jobcentre Plus will work with you. Visit Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk] to search for a job.

Help for people on a low income

If you are on a low income, for example if your working hours have been reduced, you may be entitled to a wide range of help. This might entail ensuring that you are paid a living wage or it could take the form of help with extra bills and a top up to your income.

National minimum wage

The national minimum wage (adult rate £5.73 an hour), along with Working Tax Credit and other benefits, provides a guaranteed income of at least £292 a week for families with one child and one full-time worker, which is equivalent to well over £7.38 an hour.

Visit the employment section of Directgov

[www.direct.gov.uk/nmw] or telephone 0845 6000 678.

Around 1 million low-income workers are helped each year by the national minimum wage. Since October 2008 the adult rate has been £5.73 an hour.

Help with fuel bills

If you are on a low income and either you are disabled, have a child under five or have an older disabled child, you may be entitled to Cold Weather Payments when temperatures are low. You don't need to apply. You'll get the payment as long as you qualify.

A new package of support means that all households can save money on energy bills. This includes help with loft and cavity wall insulation and a range of energy-saving devices. In addition, pensioners and low-income households may also be eligible for free energy-saving improvements to their homes, such as insulation, and other support.

For more information go to the ACT ON CO2 website [www.direct.gov.uk/actonco2] or contact the ACT ON CO2 advice line on 0800 512 012.

For details of a comprehensive range of help visit the money, tax and benefits section of Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk/en/MoneyTaxAndBenefits/index.htm].

Tax credits

If you are responsible for at least one child or young person who normally lives with you, you may qualify for Child Tax Credit. If you work, but earn low wages, you may qualify for Working Tax Credit.

Child Tax Credit is a regular payment made to support families with children, including those with 16 to 19 year olds still in full-time education or approved training. Extra money is available if any of your children is disabled. The amount you receive is based on your income and you can receive help whether or not you are in work. If you work more than 16 hours a week, you could get Working Tax Credit as well.

If you don't have children, you may also be eligible for Working Tax Credit if you are over 25 and working more than 30 hours a week.

If your circumstances change, for example your income falls, you may be entitled to more help.

Call the Tax Credits Helpline, 0845 300 3900.

More information about tax credits is available at <http://taxcredits.direct.gov.uk>.

Help with money problems

If you find that with the downturn your finances have become a problem, there is a range of help on offer to make it easier for you to get back onto an even footing.

Debt relief

The cost of becoming bankrupt means that at the moment the very poorest do not always get the opportunity to make a fresh start. Debt Relief Orders available from April 2009 will help to solve this.

Credit card repayments

If you are having trouble paying your credit card bills, contact the company to discuss a realistic repayment plan with the help of a not-for-profit debt advice agency. Credit card companies have signed up to a set of 'fair principles' that commit them to putting an end to overnight increases in credit card interest rates. In addition, the credit card industry has agreed to give a breathing space of up to 60 days to borrowers in difficulty. This means that they won't chase a debt when you are trying to get back on your feet.

For more information, look at the Choosing and Using credit card factsheet [www.choosingandusing.com/resources/documents/CreditCardFactsheet.pdf].

Debt advice

In order to help you if you're having difficulty with debt, the Government has increased funding for the National Debtline until 2011, which means it will be able to help 70,000 more people with their debt problems.

Your local Citizens Advice Bureau can also provide you with help and advice on debt. The Government is increasing the amount of funding for these bureaux this year, so that they can help over a third of a million more people each year with local, face-to-face advice.

In order to help you find free, independent sources of advice on and support with debt, this month the Government set up an online debt advice gateway on Directgov at www.direct.gov.uk/debtadvice.

Where to go for help

- National Debtline [nationaldebtline.co.uk], 0808 808 4000.
- Your local Citizens Advice Bureau [citizensadvice.org.uk].
- The new online debt advice gateway on Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk/debtadvice].
- Moneymadeclear from the Financial Services Authority gives facts about financial products and services, to help you to make an informed decision [www.moneymadeclear.fsa.gov.uk].

Help for employees

Help is in place to make it better and easier for people to stay in work.

Flexible working

Flexible working can benefit employers and employees by helping to keep businesses profitable and people at work. From April 2009 you will have the right to request flexible working if you have parental responsibility for children aged 16 or under.

Find out more at Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk].

Employment rights

You can get advice about your basic employment rights and how to report workplace abuses in the employment section of Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk/employment].

If you are an agency worker you can find out more about your rights in the employment section of Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk/agencyworkers] or by calling 0845 955 5105.

If you are about to be made redundant

Redundancy can be a worrying time. Jobcentre Plus provides information on what to expect from your employer and what effect redundancy has on making a claim for benefit. Jobcentre Plus will give you details of where to find extra information and help on redundancy issues, making a claim for benefit and finding a new job.

To find out more visit the Jobcentre Plus website [www.jobcentreplus.gov.uk]. If you are a member of a trade union, you can also get help, advice and support from it if you have concerns about redundancy.

Help for pensioners

Help is available not just for people of working age but also for older people whose lives may have been affected by the global economic conditions.

Pension Credit

If you are 60 or over you may be entitled to Pension Credit. Pension Credit guarantees everyone aged 60 and over an income of at least £124.05 a week for single people or £189.35 a week for couples. From April 2009 the rate for a single pensioner will increase to £130 a week.

You can now claim Pension Credit, Housing Benefit and Council Tax Benefit in one call, with no need to fill in any forms. To apply call 0800 99 1234 or textphone 0900 169 0133.

State Pension

The basic State Pension is being increased by 5 per cent from April 2009. This means that if you are getting a full basic State Pension your weekly income will go up from £90.70 to £95.25.

Christmas Bonus

Most pensioners will have received an extra £60 Christmas Bonus payment in January. Others will get it by the end of March.

Winter Fuel Payments

You may get a Winter Fuel Payment to help pay for keeping warm this winter if you were aged 60 or over during 15–21 September 2008 and you normally live in the United Kingdom. You could get £250 if you are aged 60–79 or £400 if you are aged 80 or over. This is paid automatically if you are getting a state pension or other social security benefit (excluding Housing Benefit, Council Tax Benefit and Child Benefit).

For more information call the Winter Fuel Payment Helpline, 08459 151 515, textphone 0845 601 5613.

Cold Weather Payments

Cold Weather Payments for this year have been tripled to £25 per week. These payments become payable when the average temperature where you live is zero degrees Celsius or below over several consecutive days during the period from 1 November 2008 to 31 March 2009. You do not need to apply. You'll get the payment as long as you qualify.

Pensioners may also be eligible for free energy-saving improvements to their homes, such as insulation, and other support. The Warm Front scheme offers up to £2,700 worth of central heating and energy efficiency measures to low-income and pensioner households.

To find out more, contact the ACT ON CO2 advice line on 0800 512 012.

In addition, energy suppliers now offer lower 'social tariffs' to their most vulnerable customers and are planning to bring the number of these discounted accounts to around 600,000 by the end of the year. The discounts can be worth £200 to £250 a year. For more information contact your energy supplier.

Help with buying a new home

You may be trying to get onto the property ladder, but struggling to find a suitable mortgage. If you are finding it hard to save for a large enough deposit, there are a number of shared ownership and shared equity schemes to help you.

All households earning less than £60,000 a year who wouldn't otherwise be able to afford to buy are now eligible for these schemes.

New Build HomeBuy

This scheme allows you to own a property jointly with a housing association. You start by purchasing as little as 25 per cent, but you can build up a larger stake, eventually moving to full ownership, if you want to. You pay subsidised rent on the rest of your home.

Open Market HomeBuy

Under this scheme, you are the sole owner and there is no rent to pay on your home. You take out an equity loan from one of the products below to top up your mortgage:

- MyChoice HomeBuy: An organisation called Chase made up of eight housing associations will lend you between 15 and 50 per cent of the property value. You will pay a small fee on this loan. The mortgage to meet the rest of the purchase price can be taken out with any lender.

- Ownhome HomeBuy: A housing association called Places for People will lend you between 20 and 40 per cent of the property value. You will pay a small fee on the loan, but nothing will be due for five years. The mortgage to meet the rest of the purchase price must be taken out with the Co-operative Bank.

Having this equity loan will enable you to buy a higher-value home. When you sell the home, you will share any increase or decrease in value with the housing association providing the loan. Under this scheme, you can buy any house from any estate agent.

HomeBuy Direct

Like Open Market HomeBuy, this is a shared equity scheme. Your equity loan, covering between 15 and 30 per cent of the property value, will be provided equally by the Government and a developer. This scheme covers only certain newly built properties. You will pay a small fee on the loan but nothing will be due for the first five years. You will need to take out a conventional mortgage with any lender to meet the rest of the purchase price.

Some developers are already taking pre-applications for this scheme. It will be fully open soon.

Rent to HomeBuy

Under this scheme, you rent a newly built property from a housing association at 80 per cent of the market rent for up to five years. At the end of that time, you have the option to buy the home. This means that you can take advantage of the low rent to save for a deposit.

To apply for these schemes, find your local HomeBuy agent on Directgov [www.direct.gov.uk].

Help with business finances

UK companies are the lifeblood of the economy. In the current economic climate we know that some companies are struggling to secure the finance they need, not because of any failure in their business but due to much tougher credit conditions. The following package of support measures is designed to improve access to credit and provide help with business finances.

Freeing up bank lending: action behind the scenes

The Government is working with UK banks and the European Investment Bank to maintain existing lending and make more available to small and medium-sized firms.

The Working Capital Scheme will secure up to £20 billion of working capital credit lines for ordinary risk companies with a turnover of up to £500 million a year, so ensuring that they are safe from reduction or withdrawal. It will also free up capital which the banks must use for new business lending that would otherwise not be available.

With the European Investment Bank, the Government has helped UK banks to negotiate credit lines of more than £4 billion in order to provide loans to small and medium-sized businesses – £1 billion of which have already been made available.

Enterprise Finance Guarantee Scheme

If you have a business with an annual turnover of up to £25 million, you could get a loan of up to £1 million for a period of up to 10 years under the Enterprise Finance Guarantee Scheme. You can use the money to convert an existing overdraft into a loan so that you can free up the overdraft facility for other working capital demands.

Barclays, Clydesdale/Yorkshire Bank, HBOS, HSBC, Lloyds TSB, RBS/Natwest and Northern Bank have signed up to this scheme, so if you apply for a loan from one of these banks you may be able to benefit from the Government's guarantee. As with any other loan, your bank will decide whether to lend to your business, but the Government's guarantee will mean that some businesses who might otherwise not have been able to borrow will be able to obtain a loan. The Government will be monitoring the implementation of this scheme.

Regional loans

If your business hasn't been able to secure funding from the bank under the Enterprise Finance Guarantee Scheme, you may be eligible for a loan or other support from your Regional Development Agency. Your local Business Link can advise on what additional financial help is available from the development agency in your region.

Visit Business Link [www.businesslink.gov.uk], 0845 600 9 006.

Capital for Enterprise Fund

Through this fund, viable small businesses with high levels of existing debt can get real help to raise long-term finance. Professional fund managers will provide equity investment which you can use to pay off existing debt, so as to free up capital for day-to-day cash flow and for investment for the future. The Government is providing £50 million of this £75 million fund, with the remaining £25 million coming from RBS, HSBC, Lloyds TSB and Barclays.

Call the Capital for Enterprise Fund Registration Helpline, 0845 459 9780.

Need more time to pay your tax bill?

If you are worried about paying your tax, National Insurance, VAT, PAYE or other payments to HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) then you can contact the Business Payment Support Service. HMRC staff will review payment of your tax liabilities with you and try to come to an arrangement which allows you to spread payment over a period which meets the needs of your business and helps you over temporary difficulties.

You won't be charged additional late payment surcharges or penalties on payments included in the arrangement. But interest will still be payable on those taxes where it applies. Over 30,000 businesses have been helped to spread payments in this way, amounting to more than £500 million of tax.

Visit Business Link [www.businesslink.gov.uk/realhelp] or call the Business Payment Support Service, 0845 302 1435.

Managing cash flow

You can find short guides on managing cash flow, developed by the Institute of Credit Management and funded by the Government, at Business Link [www.businesslink.gov.uk/realhelp].

The Government is encouraging all businesses to agree to pay suppliers on time. You can see which businesses have signed up to this at [www.promptpaymentcode.org.uk].

Prompt Payment Code

Central Government is also helping by committing to pay its own bills within 10 days.

Debt problems

To get free, confidential and independent help to deal with business debt problems so you can successfully manage your way through financial difficulties, call Business Debtline, 0800 197 6026.

Help with managing your business

You may have to face some tough decisions, but there is real help available for your business to build on its strengths and to weather the difficulties.

Health check for your business

Get a free review of your business with a professional business adviser who can provide hands-on advice and help you access other government help, including all the schemes mentioned here.

To access a free health check for your business, call the helpline, 0845 600 9 006, or visit the Business Link website [www.businesslink.gov.uk/healthcheck].

Alternatives to redundancy

An interactive guide is available on the Business Link website to help you find alternatives to making redundancies. Advice includes guidance on consulting with employees and on how you can plan effectively for better job security.

Visit the Business Link website [www.businesslink.gov.uk/realhelp].

Dealing with redundancies

It can be tough making the difficult decisions that affect you, your employees and your business. If you have to make people redundant, Jobcentre Plus helps people at risk of losing their job to start looking for a new one, even before they are made redundant, through online and telephone-based services.

Visit the Jobcentre Plus website [www.jobcentreplus.gov.uk/employers] and select 'Help with redundancies' to find your local Jobcentre Plus contact.

Recruiting employees

From April 2009, you could get an incentive of up to £1,000 to recruit a person who has been unemployed for over six months, and access to in-work training for that person worth up to £1,500.

More details of how to access this help will be made available shortly on the Business Link website [businesslink.gov.uk/realhelp].

Staff restructuring and major change

Help with exporting

Overseas customers and markets continue to offer your business real opportunities. UK Trade & Investment (UKTI) advisers can help you access the right contacts and raise your company's profile. They can also help you navigate the local business culture, regulations and logistics.

Visit the UKTI website [www.uktradeinvest.gov.uk] or call 020 7215 8000.

Reduce waste and save energy

Business Link can give you advice on how your business can save money at the same time as protecting the environment. An interactive tool is also provided to help businesses assess the areas where they are most likely to be able to cut costs, on the basis of their business activities.

Visit the Business Link website [www.businesslink.gov.uk/realhelp].

Help with investing for the future

Businesses that invest during a recession often emerge stronger and more competitive than they were before. In fact, independent studies have found that companies that don't invest in growth, training, research and development during a recession are two-and-a-half times more likely to fail than those that do invest. See the separate box for contact details about training and skills if you are in Wales or Scotland.

Making the Skills Pledge

Many companies now are making the Skills Pledge. This public demonstration of the importance you place on investing in the skills of your people helps increase your employees' confidence, motivation and productivity. Employers who make the Skills Pledge are also supported with impartial advice from the Train to Gain service.

Visit the Skills Pledge website [<http://inourhands.lsc.gov.uk/employersSkillsPledge.html>].

Funding and support for training

Train to Gain is the Government's flagship service which supports employers in England, of all sizes and in all sectors, to invest in the skills of their employees. Specialist brokers can advise you on your business' skills needs, the courses available, the most appropriate providers of training and the public funding available. There is specific government funding now available for small and medium-sized businesses and voluntary organisations, including funding to retrain employees and for short courses – including on leadership and management – which have been proved to be useful for businesses.

Visit the Train to Gain website [www.traintogain.gov.uk/Helping_Your_Business] or ring 0800 015 5545.

You can also contact your local college or university to find out how it is working with local businesses to provide training flexibly and easily, in order to ensure that the training offered fits in with the way your business works and can be tailored to your needs.

HERO's 'University finder' [www.hero.ac.uk/uk/universities_colleges/index.cfm] makes it easy to find your local universities and colleges and gives contacts for their dedicated business teams.

Training support for apprentices

Apprentices can bring many benefits to your business – increased productivity, improved competitiveness and a committed and competent workforce. You can get full or partial financial support for training up to the equivalent of A level.

Visit the Apprenticeships Service website [www.apprenticeships.org.uk/Employers.aspx] or ring 0800 015 0600.

Training and skills advice in Wales and Scotland

In Scotland

Helping specific sectors

Sector Skills Councils (SSCs) can give specialist advice and access to extra and more flexible funding to meet the needs of your specific sector, including for example the hospitality, construction, manufacturing, chemical, pharmaceutical, nuclear or engineering sectors.

Visit the Alliance of Sector Skills Councils website [www.sscalliance.org/Sectors/SectorSkillsCouncils/SectorSkillsCouncils.asp] for SSC contacts.

Supporting business research and innovation

To help your business take advantage of research and new technologies and processes, there is now greater assistance available from universities and research institutions, and a range of additional funding and support. Knowledge Transfer Networks and Knowledge Transfer Partnerships enable businesses to link with universities and research institutions to share and take advantage of research findings and new developments.

Visit the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills Business Gateway website [www.dius.gov.uk/business].

Small and medium-sized firms can access real help through a web portal [www.businesslink.gov.uk/realhelp] or by contacting their local Business Link adviser on 0845 600 9 006.

Call charges

0800 numbers

Calls to 0800 numbers are free from BT land lines but you may have to pay if you use another phone company or a mobile phone, or if you are calling from abroad. Calls from mobile phones can cost up to 40p per minute, so check the cost of calls with your service provider.

0845 numbers

From January 2009, calls to 0845 numbers from BT land lines should cost no more than 4p per minute with a 7p call set-up charge. You may have to pay more if you use another phone company or a mobile phone, or if you are calling from abroad. Calls from mobile phones can cost up to 40p per minute, so check the cost of calls with your service provider.

0870 numbers

From January 2009, calls to 0870 numbers from BT land lines should cost no more than 8p per minute with a 7p call set-up charge. You may have to pay more if you use another phone company or a mobile phone, or if you are calling from abroad. Calls from mobile phones can cost up to 40p per minute, so check the cost of calls with your service provider.

Textphone numbers

Textphone numbers are for people who cannot speak or hear clearly. If you do not have a textphone, your local library or Citizens Advice Bureau may have one. Textphones do not receive text messages from mobile phones.
